

JOSEPH E. RALPH DIES ON WAY TO VISIT SICK WIFE

Former Director of Bureau of Engraving and Printing
Falls on New York Street

HELD POST HERE 10 YEARS

News of Death Finds Son
Here at Another Family
Sick Bed at Walter Reed

Joseph E. Ralph, former director of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, fell dead on a street in New York, yesterday. News of his death was telephoned here by Robert A. Ralph, a son, who had been called to the bedside of the dead man's wife, who is critically ill.

QUIT HOME IN GOOD HEALTH.

Mr. Ralph left his home yesterday morning apparently in the best of health according to advices from New York. He had left the offices of the United States Steel Company, where he has been employed since leaving Washington four years ago, and was thought to be on his way home to see his wife. The cause of death had not been determined. He was living at 677 Ocean avenue, Brooklyn.

Besides a wife and the son who is at her bedside, three other sons survive. They are Edward, a captain in the army, who was at the bedside of his wife in Walter Reed hospital when news of his father's death reached Washington; Daniel P., a clerk in a railroad office in Joliet, Ill., and Howard, a student at Notre Dame University. Capt. Ralph left Washington last night, after his wife was pronounced much better following an operation.

HEADED BUREAU 10 YEARS.

Mr. Ralph held the post as head of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing for ten years, the longest term of any man in that post of the Government. He served under Roosevelt, Taft and Wilson, and resigned October 31, 1917, to take the presidency of the United States Intaglio Security Company. He was called to New York as head of the labor relations department of the United States Steel Company.

A native of Allegheny City, Pa., he was born August 22, 1863. During his boyhood his parents moved to Joliet, Ill., which he has since considered as his "home town." Starting to work in the steel mills in Illinois as a boy, Mr. Ralph steadily developed into an expert mechanic. He came from Joliet to superintend the construction of the then new Castle Garden at Ellis Island. In 1892 he was placed in charge of the customs service at the World's Fair in Chicago.

CAME HERE IN 1897.

In 1897, Mr. Ralph came to Washington as assistant of dies, rolls and plates of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing. In 1908 he was made director of the bureau, succeeding Thomas J. Sullivan.

Under Mr. Ralph's regime, the activities of the bureau increased manifold. He led the fight for modernizing the equipment and methods of the plant and succeeded in obtaining a building to house it which is regarded as the most modern and up-to-date factory building in the world.

The economies put into effect during his administration mount up into savings of millions of dollars. This was effected in a great measure by installation of improved machinery, largely designed by technicians attached to his staff, and under his suggestion and direction. The adoption of the power plate-printing press was one of the most prominent of such improvements.

FRIEND OF CLERKS.

While he was under much fire of criticism on many occasions, the bulk of the employees of the bureau regarded Mr. Ralph as a fair executive and a humane man, looking out for their interests, not only in sanitation and conditions of labor, but in personal matters.

In official Washington he has a host of friends. Also there are more than 200 thirty-year service employees who spent ten years of their lives in helping Mr. Ralph make the bureau the greatest institution of its kind in the world.

POLISH ASSASSIN TO DIE.

WARSAW, Dec. 30.—Jos Niewiadomski, who assassinated President Gabriel Narutowicz, was found guilty of murder and condemned to death today after a trial of only a few hours.

Russian Relief Official in City

Capt. G. L. Carden, chief supply officer of the American Relief Administration in Russia, has returned to Washington for a brief visit, following an extended stay in Russia where he supervised the transportation by ship and rail of 700,000 tons of relief supplies valued at $35,000,000.

Capt. Carden, who is a former Coast Guard officer, will return to Europe next week to make an inquiry into economic conditions. He reports that with American aid Russia is rapidly regaining a foothold and that her people are beginning to turn to useful pursuits.

The relief administration, organized last year, has been under the direction of Col. W. N. Haskell, former head of the sales division of the War Department entrusted with the distribution of $10,000,000 worth of a surplus war supplies.

JOSEPH E. RALPH, former head of the Bureau of Engraving and Printing, who dropped dead yesterday in New York city. Mr. Ralph was in charge of the bureau for ten years, and is responsible for many innovations and much of its efficiency.

PHOTO BY CLARENDON

TICKETS FOR COUE LECTURE SOLD OUT

Requests Now Pour In for Admission to Second Address
In Washington.

Demand for seats at the two lectures to be given in Washington by Dr. Emile Coue, autosuggestion advocate, have been so great that all of the tickets for the first lecture have been sold and requests are pouring in for tickets to the second address.

Dr. Coue, whose writings have appeared daily in the Washington Herald, has attracted so much attention that it is expected hundreds will have to be turned away.

Seats for the second lecture, which will be held at 8 o'clock on the evening of January 17 at Continental Hall, will be placed on sale at the old Federal Bank building, Fourteenth and G streets, at 10 a. m. January 8.

The first lecture, for which all seats have been sold, will be given in the lecture hall of the William P. Eno residence, 171 N street north-west, at 3 o'clock, January 17.

Demands for seats have been so great that Mr. Eno has asked that notice be given that no more will be sold. As the second lecture is scheduled for Continental Hall, D. A. R. members have been swamped with requests for tickets. Leaders yesterday asked newspapers to announce that the meeting would not be held under auspices of the D. A. R. and that they had no tickets to sell.

Mrs. Franklin K. Lane and Mrs. Archibald Hopkins, members of the local committee in charge of the lectures, said yesterday that no advance orders for seats will be received. Dr. Coue, they declared, has not decided whether he will hold a clinic with his lectures.

Funds secured from Dr. Coue's lectures are devoted wholly to a free clinic maintained in Paris. It is an established rule of the Frenchman not to accept a penny of the receipts, it is declared.

Announces Retirement of Treasury Certificates

Secretary of the Treasury Mellon last night announced final retirement of all outstanding special Treasury certificates of indebtedness, otherwise known as Pittman Act Certificates. These securities outstanding on December 31, 1929, aggregated $25,375,000. Since that date they have been retired gradually, partly through coinage of silver dollars under the Pittman act, and partly out of the general fund of the Treasury. Director of the Mint Scofield reported yesterday that 49,667,478 ounces of silver bullion remains to be purchased under the Pittman act.

Officers Find Liquor Concealed in Books

NEWARK, N. J., Dec. 30.—Local prohibition enforcement officers became literary critics today. They had seized a number of "books" in a Jersey City express office and set out to investigate them. They were not dry reading. The first was "The Four Seasons," by J. B. Corn. It contained more than four. The next was "The Oasis," by J. B. Corn. It was. All contained whiskey.

Police Hold Six in Crime Series

Five Men and Woman Under Investigation in "Reign of Terror."

TAKEN AT JACKSON CITY

One of Group, Said to Be Out on Bond in Shooting, Draws Gun.

Police seized a woman and five men at Jackson City, Va., yesterday and questioned them concerning a series of hold-ups, robberies and other lawless activities which have caused a reign of terror in south Washington during the past several weeks.

HELD FOR INVESTIGATION.

Although only under investigation, the six persons are being held by the police, the men at the First precinct station and the woman at the House of Detention. Those held are: James A. Watson, twenty-three years old; Earl E. Eckert, twenty-one; Arthur M. Denton, twenty-one, Bristol, Tenn.; Jay Warner, alias Jay Warner, alias Jay Dudding, thirty-three, Calumet, Mich.; William H. Dilger, forty-two, and his wife, Mabel Dilger, twenty-one, both of Durham, N. C. Eckert gave his address as Fort Myer, Va., and the others gave theirs as south Washington.

ACCUSED OF SHOOTING.

Police say Warner is the man who was sentenced Friday to one year in the State penitentiary at Richmond, Va., by Judge Samuel G. Brent, in connection with the shooting of a man named Malone at the White House bathing beach last fall and who was released on $1,500 bond when he appealed.

Warner, according to the police, drew a revolver and threatened them when they entered the Virginia settlement in search of the suspects. He was arrested only after they, too, had drawn their firearms.

Some of the group were arrested in shacks and others in a household moored on the south shore of the Potomac.

POLICE HOLD SIX IN CRIME SERIES

Five Men and Woman Under Investigation in "Reign of Terror."

TAKEN AT JACKSON CITY

One of Group, Said to Be Out on Bond in Shooting, Draws Gun.

Police seized a woman and five men at Jackson City, Va., yesterday and questioned them concerning a series of hold-ups, robberies and other lawless activities which have caused a reign of terror in south Washington during the past several weeks.

HELD FOR INVESTIGATION.

Although only under investigation, the six persons are being held by the police, the men at the First precinct station and the woman at the House of Detention. Those held are: James A. Watson, twenty-three years old; Earl E. Eckert, twenty-one; Arthur M. Denton, twenty-one, Bristol, Tenn.; Jay Warner, alias Jay Warner, alias Jay Dudding, thirty-three, Calumet, Mich.; William H. Dilger, forty-two, and his wife, Mabel Dilger, twenty-one, both of Durham, N. C. Eckert gave his address as Fort Myer, Va., and the others gave theirs as south Washington.

ACCUSED OF SHOOTING.

Police say Warner is the man who was sentenced Friday to one year in the State penitentiary at Richmond, Va., by Judge Samuel G. Brent, in connection with the shooting of a man named Malone at the White House bathing beach last fall and who was released on $1,500 bond when he appealed.

Warner, according to the police, drew a revolver and threatened them when they entered the Virginia settlement in search of the suspects. He was arrested only after they, too, had drawn their firearms.

Some of the group were arrested in shacks and others in a household moored on the south shore of the Potomac.

HELD FOR INVESTIGATION.

Although only under investigation, the six persons are being held by the police, the men at the First precinct station and the woman at the House of Detention. Those held are: James A. Watson, twenty-three years old; Earl E. Eckert, twenty-one; Arthur M. Denton, twenty-one, Bristol, Tenn.; Jay Warner, alias Jay Warner, alias Jay Dudding, thirty-three, Calumet, Mich.; William H. Dilger, forty-two, and his wife, Mabel Dilger, twenty-one, both of Durham, N. C. Eckert gave his address as Fort Myer, Va., and the others gave theirs as south Washington.

ACCUSED OF SHOOTING.

Police say Warner is the man who was sentenced Friday to one year in the State penitentiary at Richmond, Va., by Judge Samuel G. Brent, in connection with the shooting of a man named Malone at the White House bathing beach last fall and who was released on $1,500 bond when he appealed.

Warner, according to the police, drew a revolver and threatened them when they entered the Virginia settlement in search of the suspects. He was arrested only after they, too, had drawn their firearms.

Some of the group were arrested in shacks and others in a household moored on the south shore of the Potomac.

HELD FOR INVESTIGATION.

Although only under investigation, the six persons are being held by the police, the men at the First precinct station and the woman at the House of Detention. Those held are: James A. Watson, twenty-three years old; Earl E. Eckert, twenty-one; Arthur M. Denton, twenty-one, Bristol, Tenn.; Jay Warner, alias Jay Warner, alias Jay Dudding, thirty-three, Calumet, Mich.; William H. Dilger, forty-two, and his wife, Mabel Dilger, twenty-one, both of Durham, N. C. Eckert gave his address as Fort Myer, Va., and the others gave theirs as south Washington.

ACCUSED OF SHOOTING.

Police say Warner is the man who was sentenced Friday to one year in the State penitentiary at Richmond, Va., by Judge Samuel G. Brent, in connection with the shooting of a man named Malone at the White House bathing beach last fall and who was released on $1,500 bond when he appealed.

Warner, according to the police, drew a revolver and threatened them when they entered the Virginia settlement in search of the suspects. He was arrested only after they, too, had drawn their firearms.

Some of the group were arrested in shacks and others in a household moored on the south shore of the Potomac.

HELD FOR INVESTIGATION.

Although only under investigation, the six persons are being held by the police, the men at the First precinct station and the woman at the House of Detention. Those held are: James A. Watson, twenty-three years old; Earl E. Eckert, twenty-one; Arthur M. Denton, twenty-one, Bristol, Tenn.; Jay Warner, alias Jay Warner, alias Jay Dudding, thirty-three, Calumet, Mich.; William H. Dilger, forty-two, and his wife, Mabel Dilger, twenty-one, both of Durham, N. C. Eckert gave his address as Fort Myer, Va., and the others gave theirs as south Washington.

ACCUSED OF SHOOTING.

Police say Warner is the man who was sentenced Friday to one year in the State penitentiary at Richmond, Va., by Judge Samuel G. Brent, in connection with the shooting of a man named Malone at the White House bathing beach last fall and who was released on $1,500 bond when he appealed.

Warner, according to the police, drew a revolver and threatened them when they entered the Virginia settlement in search of the suspects. He was arrested only after they, too, had drawn their firearms.

Some of the group were arrested in shacks and others in a household moored on the south shore of the Potomac.

HELD FOR INVESTIGATION.

Although only under investigation, the six persons are being held by the police, the men at the First precinct station and the woman at the House of Detention. Those held are: James A. Watson, twenty-three years old; Earl E. Eckert, twenty-one; Arthur M. Denton, twenty-one, Bristol, Tenn.; Jay Warner, alias Jay Warner, alias Jay Dudding, thirty-three, Calumet, Mich.; William H. Dilger, forty-two, and his wife, Mabel Dilger, twenty-one, both of Durham, N. C. Eckert gave his address as Fort Myer, Va., and the others gave theirs as south Washington.

ACCUSED OF SHOOTING.

Police say Warner is the man who was sentenced Friday to one year in the State penitentiary at Richmond, Va., by Judge Samuel G. Brent, in connection with the shooting of a man named Malone at the White House bathing beach last fall and who was released on $1,500 bond when he appealed.

Warner, according to the police, drew a revolver and threatened them when they entered the Virginia settlement in search of the suspects. He was arrested only after they, too, had drawn their firearms.

Some of the group were arrested in shacks and others in a household moored on the south shore of the Potomac.

HELD FOR INVESTIGATION.

Although only under investigation, the six persons are being held by the police, the men at the First precinct station and the woman at the House of Detention. Those held are: James A. Watson, twenty-three years old; Earl E. Eckert, twenty-one; Arthur M. Denton, twenty-one, Bristol, Tenn.; Jay Warner, alias Jay Warner, alias Jay Dudding, thirty-three, Calumet, Mich.; William H. Dilger, forty-two, and his wife, Mabel Dilger, twenty-one, both of Durham, N. C. Eckert gave his address as Fort Myer, Va., and the others gave theirs as south Washington.

ACCUSED OF SHOOTING.

Police say Warner is the man who was sentenced Friday to one year in the State penitentiary at Richmond, Va., by Judge Samuel G. Brent, in connection with the shooting of a man named Malone at the White House bathing beach last fall and who was released on $1,500 bond when he appealed.

Warner, according to the police, drew a revolver and threatened them when they entered the Virginia settlement in search of the suspects. He was arrested only after they, too, had drawn their firearms.

Some of the group were arrested in shacks and others in a household moored on the south shore of the Potomac.

HELD FOR INVESTIGATION.

Although only under investigation, the six persons are being held by the police, the men at the First precinct station and the woman at the House of Detention. Those held are: James A. Watson, twenty-three years old; Earl E. Eckert, twenty-one; Arthur M. Denton, twenty-one, Bristol, Tenn.; Jay Warner, alias Jay Warner, alias Jay Dudding, thirty-three, Calumet, Mich.; William H. Dilger, forty-two, and his wife, Mabel Dilger, twenty-one, both of Durham, N. C. Eckert gave his address as Fort Myer, Va., and the others gave theirs as south Washington.

ACCUSED OF SHOOTING.

Police say Warner is the man who was sentenced Friday to one year in the State penitentiary at Richmond, Va., by Judge Samuel G. Brent, in connection with the shooting of a man named Malone at the White House bathing beach last fall and who was released on $1,500 bond when he appealed.

Warner, according to the police, drew a revolver and threatened them when they entered the Virginia settlement in search of the suspects. He was arrested only after they, too, had drawn their firearms.

Some of the group were arrested in shacks and others in a household moored on the south shore of the Potomac.

HELD FOR INVESTIGATION.

Although only under investigation, the six persons are being held by the police, the men at the First precinct station and the woman at the House of Detention. Those held are: James A. Watson, twenty-three years old; Earl E. Eckert, twenty-one; Arthur M. Denton, twenty-one, Bristol, Tenn.; Jay Warner, alias Jay Warner, alias Jay Dudding, thirty-three, Calumet, Mich.; William H. Dilger, forty-two, and his wife, Mabel Dilger, twenty-one, both of Durham, N. C. Eckert gave his address as Fort Myer, Va., and the others gave theirs as south Washington.

ACCUSED OF SHOOTING.

Police say Warner is the man who was sentenced Friday to one year in the State penitentiary at Richmond, Va., by Judge Samuel G. Brent, in connection with the shooting of a man named Malone at the White House bathing beach last fall and who was released on $1,500 bond when he appealed.

Warner, according to the police, drew a revolver and threatened them when they entered the Virginia settlement in search of the suspects. He was arrested only after they, too, had drawn their firearms.

Some of the group were arrested in shacks and others in a household moored on the south shore of the Potomac.

HELD FOR INVESTIGATION.

Although only under investigation, the six persons are being held by the police, the men at the First precinct station and the woman at the House of Detention. Those held are: James A. Watson, twenty-three years old; Earl E. Eckert, twenty-one; Arthur M. Denton, twenty-one, Bristol, Tenn.; Jay Warner, alias Jay Warner, alias Jay Dudding, thirty-three, Calumet, Mich.; William H. Dilger, forty-two, and his wife, Mabel Dilger, twenty-one, both of Durham, N. C. Eckert gave his address as Fort Myer, Va., and the others gave theirs as south Washington.

ACCUSED OF SHOOTING.

Police say Warner is the man who was sentenced Friday to one year in the State penitentiary at Richmond, Va., by Judge Samuel G. Brent, in connection with the shooting of a man named Malone at the White House bathing beach last fall and who was released on $1,500 bond when he appealed.

Warner, according to the police, drew a revolver and threatened them when they entered the Virginia settlement in search of the suspects. He was arrested only after they, too, had drawn their firearms.

Some of the group were arrested in shacks and others in a household moored on the south shore of the Potomac.

HELD FOR INVESTIGATION.

Although only under investigation, the six persons are being held by the police, the men at the First precinct station and the woman at the House of Detention. Those held are: James A. Watson, twenty-three years old; Earl E. Eckert, twenty-one; Arthur M. Denton, twenty-one, Bristol, Tenn.; Jay Warner, alias Jay Warner, alias Jay Dudding, thirty-three, Calumet, Mich.; William H. Dilger, forty-two, and his wife, Mabel Dilger, twenty-one, both of Durham, N. C. Eckert gave his address as Fort Myer, Va., and the others gave theirs as south Washington.

ACCUSED OF SHOOTING.

Police say Warner is the man who was sentenced Friday to one year in the State penitentiary at Richmond, Va., by Judge Samuel G. Brent, in connection with the shooting of a man named Malone at the White House bathing beach last fall and who was released on $1,500 bond when he appealed.

Warner, according to the police, drew a revolver and threatened them when they entered the Virginia settlement in search of the suspects. He was arrested only after they, too, had drawn their firearms.

Some of the group were arrested in shacks and others in a household moored on the south shore of the Potomac.

HELD FOR INVESTIGATION.

Although only under investigation, the six persons are being held by the police, the men at the First precinct station and the woman at the House of Detention. Those held are: James A. Watson, twenty-three years old; Earl E. Eckert, twenty-one; Arthur M. Denton, twenty-one, Bristol, Tenn.; Jay Warner, alias Jay Warner, alias Jay Dudding, thirty-three, Calumet, Mich.; William H. Dilger, forty-two, and his wife, Mabel Dilger, twenty-one, both of Durham, N. C. Eckert gave his address as Fort Myer, Va., and the others gave theirs as south Washington.

ACCUSED OF SHOOTING.

Police say Warner is the man who was sentenced Friday to one year in the State penitentiary at Richmond, Va., by Judge Samuel G. Brent, in connection with the shooting of a man named Malone at the White House bathing beach last fall and who was released on $1,500 bond when he appealed.

Warner, according to the police, drew a revolver and threatened them when they entered the Virginia settlement in search of the suspects. He was arrested only after they, too, had drawn their firearms.

Some of the group were arrested in shacks and others in a household moored on the south shore of the Potomac.

HELD FOR INVESTIGATION.

Although only under investigation, the six persons are being held by the police, the men at the First precinct station and the woman at the House of Detention. Those held are: James A. Watson, twenty-three years old; Earl E. Eckert, twenty-one; Arthur M. Denton, twenty-one, Bristol, Tenn.; Jay Warner, alias Jay Warner, alias Jay Dudding, thirty-three, Calumet, Mich.; William H. Dilger, forty-two, and his wife, Mabel Dilger, twenty-one, both of Durham, N. C. Eckert gave his address as Fort Myer, Va., and the others gave theirs as south Washington.

ACCUSED OF SHOOTING.

Police say Warner is the man who was sentenced Friday to one year in the State penitentiary at Richmond, Va., by Judge Samuel G. Brent, in connection with the shooting of a man named Malone at the White House bathing beach last fall and who was released on $1,500 bond when he appealed.

Warner, according to the police, drew a revolver and threatened them when they entered the Virginia settlement in search of the suspects. He was arrested only after they, too, had drawn their firearms.

Some of the group were arrested in shacks and others in a household moored on the south shore of the Potomac.

HELD FOR INVESTIGATION.

Although only under investigation, the six persons are being held by the police, the men at the First precinct station and the woman at the House of Detention. Those held are: James A. Watson, twenty-three years old; Earl E. Eckert, twenty-one; Arthur M. Denton, twenty-one, Bristol, Tenn.; Jay Warner, alias Jay Warner, alias Jay Dudding, thirty-three, Calumet, Mich.; William H. Dilger, forty-two, and his wife, Mabel Dilger, twenty-one, both of Durham, N. C. Eckert gave his address as Fort Myer, Va., and the others gave theirs as south Washington.

ACCUSED OF SHOOTING.

Police say Warner is the man who was sentenced Friday to one year in the State penitentiary at Richmond, Va., by Judge Samuel G. Brent, in connection with the shooting of a man named Malone at the White House bathing beach last fall and who was released on $1,500 bond when he appealed.

Warner, according to the police, drew a revolver and threatened them when they entered the Virginia settlement in search of the suspects. He was arrested only after they, too, had drawn their firearms.

Some of the group were arrested in shacks and others in a household moored on the south shore of the Potomac.

HELD FOR INVESTIGATION.

Although only under investigation, the six persons are being held by the police, the men at the First precinct station and the woman at the House of Detention. Those held are: James A. Watson, twenty-three years old; Earl E. Eckert, twenty-one; Arthur M. Denton, twenty-one, Bristol, Tenn.; Jay Warner, alias Jay Warner, alias Jay Dudding, thirty-three, Calumet, Mich.; William H. Dilger, forty-two, and his wife, Mabel Dilger, twenty-one, both of Durham, N. C. Eckert gave his address as Fort Myer, Va., and the others gave theirs as south Washington.

ACCUSED OF SHOOTING.

Police say Warner is the man who was sentenced Friday to one year in the State penitentiary at Richmond, Va., by Judge Samuel G. Brent, in connection with the shooting of a man named Malone at the White House bathing beach last fall and who was released on $1,500 bond when he appealed.

Warner, according to the police, drew a revolver and threatened them when they entered the Virginia settlement in search of the suspects. He was arrested only after they, too, had drawn their firearms.

Some of the group were arrested in shacks and others in a household moored on the south shore of the Potomac.

HELD FOR INVESTIGATION.

Although only under investigation, the six persons are being held by the police, the men at the First precinct station and the woman at the House of Detention. Those held are: James A. Watson, twenty-three years old; Earl E. Eckert, twenty-one; Arthur M. Denton, twenty-one, Bristol, Tenn.; Jay Warner, alias Jay Warner, alias Jay Dudding, thirty-three, Calumet, Mich.; William H. Dilger, forty-two, and his wife, Mabel Dilger, twenty-one, both of Durham, N. C. Eckert gave his address as Fort Myer, Va., and the others gave theirs as south Washington.

ACCUSED OF SHOOTING.

Police say Warner is the man who was sentenced Friday to one year in the State penitentiary at Richmond, Va., by Judge Samuel G. Brent, in connection with the shooting of a man named Malone at the White House bathing beach last fall and who was released on $1,500 bond when he appealed.

Warner, according to the police, drew a revolver and threatened them when they entered the Virginia settlement in search of the suspects. He was arrested only after they, too, had drawn their firearms.

Some of the group were arrested in shacks and others in a household moored on the south shore of the Potomac.

HELD FOR INVESTIGATION.

Although only under investigation, the six persons are being held by the police, the men at the First precinct station and the woman at the House of Detention. Those held are: James A. Watson, twenty-three years old; Earl E. Eckert, twenty-one; Arthur M. Denton, twenty-one, Bristol, Tenn.; Jay Warner, alias Jay Warner, alias Jay Dudding, thirty-three, Calumet, Mich.; William H. Dilger, forty-two, and his wife, Mabel Dilger, twenty-one, both of Durham, N. C. Eckert gave his address as Fort Myer, Va., and the others gave theirs as south Washington.

ACCUSED OF SHOOTING.

Police say Warner is the man who was sentenced Friday to one year in the State penitentiary at Richmond, Va., by Judge Samuel G. Brent, in connection with the shooting of a man named Malone at the White House bathing beach last fall and who was released on $1,500 bond when he appealed.

Warner, according to the police, drew a revolver and threatened them when they entered the Virginia settlement in search of the suspects. He was arrested only after they,